EVERHART OUT OF BUSINESS

MONROE CITY MEN BUY FUEL, ICE AND FEED CONCERN.

TO RETIRE TO FARM

Former Owner Active Here for 33 Years.—New Men Take Charge Tomorrow.

William Everhart, who has been in continuous and active business in Maryville for thirty-three years, has sold his fuel, ice and feed business, on the corner of First and Main streets, to Roy McFarland and C. I. Dorrel of Monroe City, Mo. The new owners will take possession tomorrow. The consideration was $8000.

The building remains the property of Mr. Everhart and will be rented by the new proprietors.

Mr. Everhart has purchased the Elmer Fraser farm three and one-half miles east of Maryville consisting of 350 acres and Mr. and Mrs. Everhart moved there yesterday. Later they will occupy a new farm residence now under construction. Their home in town will be retained as a rental property.

"I feel I have been in business about long enough," Mr. Everhart said, "so I'm going to farm for a rest. But it'll keep me busy."

Born Near Maryville.

Mr. Everhart retires from business at 59 years of age. He was born in 1869 on a farm southwest of Maryville and has been a resident of Nodaway County all of his life. He came to Maryville August 1, 1894, and opened an apple business on the site where his present business is located. He then paid eight dollars a month rent. He has been selling wood and feed for thirty-three years; coal for twenty-eight year and ice for twenty-four years.

On the site, before Mr. Everhart entered business, stood the old M. E. Church. He purchased the church building and year by year made additions. The front of the church was located where Mr. Everhart's office is. The church parsonage, just south of the plant, was purchased and remodeled into the Everhart home.

Mr. Everhart is one of the few men still in business who started when the town was still young and saw it grow on every side. Frank G. Shoemaker and C. D. Koch are the other two who have been in continuous busfness thirty years and more.

"When I first opened up business there were few business houses, most of which were frame structures. The city was without pavement. Why, the mud was four feet deep in front of my place. It was all a team could do to pull through during a rainy season."

Former "Apple Country."

Mr. Everhart said in 1896 he sold sixty carloads of apples, which demonstrates that this section of the country then was a "big apple country." During all the years Mr. Everhart never had a partner except when he was joined by Clark Andrews for three months in the apple business.

"But I never could get along with a partner in business. It's not my nature. When there is some business to be taken care of I like to go ahead with it," the retiring dealer said.

Mr. Everhart expressed his appreciation for the courtesies extended him during his thirty-three years business association in Maryville.

Mr. McFarland, one of the new owners, was in business in Monroe City for twenty years, operating an ice plant, general merchantile store, flour mill and grain elevator. Mr. McFarland has a son and daughter attending St. Louis University and two children in school at home. The family will not move to Maryville until school closes late in the spring.

Mr. Dorrel is new at the business. Mrs. Dorrel and a son, Ray, 8 years old, will move to Maryville and Ray will be entered in the Maryville grade school.

Mr. and Mrs. Everhart will leave for the farm in the morning.

Three Bridges Near Graham Are Asked

A Graham delegation, headed by Pierce Fleming, appeared before the county court yesterday afternoon and asked the court to put in three bridges on a two and one-half mile stretch of road about a mile and a half east of Graham. The court agreed to view the location of the proposed bridges.

Miss Dorothy Breitwas a visitor at St. Joseph today.

L. E. Ziegler, superintendent of the Maryville public schools, has been employed as instructor of education at the North Carolina College for Women at Greensboro, N. C., for six weeks during the summer, beginning June 11.

Mr. Ziegler will teach extra-curricular activities, public education in the United States, and elementary school practice.

The college in which he will teach was founded in 1892 and is a state supported institution. It has an enrollment of 1650 students and a teaching staff of 178 members. The college includes forty buildings on a 120-acre campus, and has its own library with some 40,000 volumes.

Mr. Ziegler has been in Maryville eleven years. He first came here in 1917 as an instructor of science in the Maryville high school. During 1918 and 1919 he served as principal and since 1920 has been superintendent of Maryville's public school system. He is known among educators throughout the state and is especially prominent in this section of the state, having served last year as president of the Northwest Missouri Teachers Association. He has been president of the Northwest Missouri High School Athletic Association.

The engagement to teach at the North Carolina college is for the summer only, and will not interfere with his duties as superintendent here.

Steve Donahue Made Second Lieutenant

Battery C Elects Him Last Night to Succeed Sam England, Resigned

Stephen A. Donahue, for the last three years top sergeant of Battery C, 128th Field Artillery, Missouri National Guard, last night was elected second lieutenant by the men of the Battery.

He succeeds Second Lieutenant Sam England of Savannah, who resigned.

The announcement of the new commissioned officer for the local Battery was made today by Capt. E. V. Condon, who said Mr. Donahue would go to Columbia March 17 to take his examination.

Lieut. Donahue is the only original member of Battery C now in the organization. He enlisted as a private when the National Guard unit was organized here about six years ago and has worked up through the ranks. Like Mr. England, he has served as first sergeant of the Battery and was the choice of the enlisted men to fill the position left vacant by Mr. England's resignation.

Lieutenant Donahue is a member of the South Side Hardware firm of Smith and Donahue. A few years prior to the World War he served a three-year "hitch" in the regular army at Fort Sill, Okla. As commissioned officer of Battery C he will be mess officer and in charge of the truck division.

Captain Condon said today that no one has been promoted to the rank of top sergeant but the promotion will be made in a few days.

A PATRIARCH VISITS TOWN

SCOTT K. SNIVELY, FORMER REPRESENTATIVE HERE.

RECALLS OLD DAYS

Tells of Cyclone that Killed Silas Briggs; Was Speaker of House in Wyoming.

A former representative in the Missouri legislature, the first man in the legislature who ever asked for an appropriation for money to erect a State Teachers College here, a former speaker of the house of representatives of the state of Wyoming, the survivor of a ship-wreck and a cyclone, and the only Civil War soldier who was shot through the liver and survived.

All these are one person, and that person, Scott K. Snively, now a resident of Blockton, Ia., was a Maryville visitor yesterday.

A cyclone caused Mr. Snively to leave Maryville in September 1893. He owned a thousand acres of land near Arkoe and Bridgewater. A cyclone in June, 1893, destroyed his buildings, including a water mill, a steam mill and an elevator.

"It broke me financially, but when I left Missouri in September, 1893, I did not owe one cent," the visitor declared.

Taken Out for Dead.

Mr. Snively recalled the details of this cyclone in which Silas Briggs was fatally injured and died within an hour, and when the speaker was taken from the debris the man who was carrying his body said "Well, he's dead." Mr. Snively returned to consciousness in time to reply, much to his rescuer's shock.

And that was how Mr. Snively happened to go to Wyoming on crutches. He received an injury near his left knee.

In speaking of his political activities before he went to Wyoming Mr. Snively told of living in Nodaway county for twenty-five years. He was a representative to the twenty-sixth and twenty-seventh General Assemblies at Jefferson City and it was then that he requested the appropriation for a college here. That was in 1874.

Bill Twice Defeated.

"The northern part of the state could obtain practically no appropriations because of the influence of St. Louis and other parts of the state," Mr. Snively declared. His first bill passed the house and was killed in the Senate. At the next Assembly Mr. Snively requested a lighter appropriation and again the bill failed by a small vote in the Senate. The third bill, offered by Mr. Snively's successor, passed. It was an appropriation for $25,000.

For four and a half years after going to Wyoming, Mr. Snively was president, treasurer and general manager of a mill. He started with a salary of $40. The stockholders raised his salary in six months to $300 and later to $350 a month. Mr. Snively was given $1,800 in stock also. Then the stockholders sold their mill and the Missourian gave up the work and entered sheep raising.

He represented Sheridan county, Wyoming, at the ninth legislature in 1907 and was made speaker of the house. An ivory gavel inlaid in gold was a gift of the legislature to Mr. Snively when he left the house. He gave up politics because of his wife's health and they lived for a time in Arizona and later in California.

Wild and Woolly.

"It was 36 years ago that I went to Wyoming and it was wild and woolly then. Many dreadful things happened there, but I was fortunate in escaping trouble."

The visitor was born in Shady Grove, Franklin county, Pennsylvania, in 1845, seventeen miles from the scene of the Battle of Gettysburg, and at 16 years of age enlisted in the one hundred and twenty-sixth Pennsylvania volunteer infantry in a nine months' regiment, company K. A wound in the ankle at the battle of Chancellor's Hill caused the young man to be mustered out at Harrisburg, nine days before General Lee crossed the Potomac river to fight the Battle of Gettysburg.

Seventeen miles northeast of Mr. Snively's birthplace Lee and his army fought. The army passed by his father's home on the Baltimore pike and the commander deployed skirmishers at Waynesborough, Penn., six miles east of the Snively home, and these activities terminated in the selection of the

TOMORROW IS END OF TERM

FINAL EXAMS ARE UNDER WAY AT COLLEGE.

TO REOPEN MARCH 13

Fifteen Hundred Bulletins Announcing Spring Short Course Sent Out Today.

Examinations are being given today and tomorrow at the State Teachers College. The last examination of the winter quarter will be given at 1 o'clock Wednesday afternoon, after which college will be dismissed for a short vacation preceeding the opening of the spring quarter on Tuesday, March 13.

The annual district basketball tournament for high schools of Northwest Missouri will take place Friday and Saturday, during the intermission between terms.

There is one outstanding event during the spring term which is of interest to the student body at the College and the entire northwest district. That evening is the annual spring contests and trackmeet, to be held April 26 to 28. Approximately twelve hundred high school students come to Maryville for these events.

Fifteen hundred bulletins, announcing the five weeks Spring Short Course, which opens April 30, were sent out today to rural teachers all over the northwest district. The bulletins contain a letter from Uel W. Lamkin, president of the College, and a schedule of courses which will be offered this spring during the short course, as well as several suggestions to teachers. About 150 students usually enroll for this course.

The first entertainment of the spring quarter will be March 16, when Sylvia Tell, America's premier danseuse, Lillian Townsley McCoy, coloratura soprano and assisting artist to Madame Ernestine Schumann-Hienk on her recent jubilee tour, and John Thompson, prominent pianist of the midwest, will present a joint recital here.

Another outstanding entertainment feature will be the grand opera "Aida" (Verdi), presented by the Festival Opera Company, and assisted by the chorus and orchestra at the College, which will be given early in May. A conductor is expected to be at the college soon after the new quarter starts to aid the chorus and orchestra.

Six Collectors' Tax Books are Accepted

County Court Approves 1927 Collection Judges to Draw April Term Petit Jury Tomorrow

The county court today accepted the tax books of the collectors from Atchison, Independence, Lincoln, Jackson, Jefferson and Monroe townships. Tomorrow will be the last day for township collectors to make final settlement of the 1927 tax books with the court.

The judges of the court went to Burlington Junction this afternoon to investigate some charity cases. The court will draw the petit jury and alternates for the April term of circuit court.

Car Catches Fire; Little Damage Done

The Studebaker touring car of George Bruce caught fire at Second and Buchanan streets at nine o'clock this morning. The blaze was put out by the fire department by use of chemicals. It was thought a short circuit in the wiring caused the fire. Damage was less than $10.

LIFE TERM TO VELMA WEST

AND SENSATIONAL MURDER CASE IS ENDED

SHE PLEADS GUILTY

Widow of Nursery Man is Taken to Marysville, Ohio to Start Serving Sentence

Painesville, O., March 6.—Velma West, charged with slaying her husband, T. Edward West, prominent Perry, Ohio nursery man, pleaded guilty today to a charge of second degree murder.

The second degree plea was a compromise between state and the defense. Previously attorneys for Mrs. West had maintained that Velma killed in self defense and could not be guilty of a more serious charge than manslaughter.

Judge J. B. Barnes immediately sentenced her to life in the Marysville, O., state reformatory. Under the plea of second degree murder, she becomes eligible for parole after ten years imprisonment.

Plea Agreed Upon.

When court opened at 9:30 a. m., Attorney Francis Poulson, chief counsel for the blonde slayer stepped forward.

"The defendant, Velma West, at this time desires to enter a plea of guilty," Poulson said.

Seth Paulin, Lake county prosecutor, announced that the state would accept the plea.

Brought to the bench at the request of the court, Mrs. West was asked whether she agreed to the plea of guilty.

"Yes, sir," she replied, her voice barely audible.

Judge Barnes asked if she had anything to say before sentence was imposed.

"I have nothing to say," she replied.

Judge Barnes then imposed sentence.

Ends Sensational Case.

The plea and sentence brought to an end one of the most sensational murder cases in the history of Ohio. Edward West, scion of a prominent family of Perry, Ohio, nursery man, was found murdered in the West bungalow at Perry, December 6. His head had been battered by a claw hammer.

The next day, Mrs. West was arrested at the home of her mother in east Cleveland. She presented a perfect alibi but later confessed that she had committed the crime.

It was expected Mrs. West would be taken to Marysville, Ohio, this afternoon to begin her sentence.

Beach and Beardsley Named at Kansas City

Mayor Is for Hoover. Other Delegate Likes Lowden But Both Are Uninstructed

Kansas City, Mo., March 6—Albert L. Beach, mayor of Kansas City, and Henry M. Beardsley, a former mayor of Kansas City, yesterday were chosen delegates to the Republican National Convention from the fifth congressional district, Missouri. Neither was instructed.

Mayor Beach is known to be for Herbert Hoover, and has said he had no second choice. Beardsley personally is an admirer of former Governor Lowden of Illinois.

Uninstructed in First

Kirksville, Mo., Mar. 6.—L. C. Deason of Hannibal and Walter A. Higbee of Lancaster were named delegates to the National convention at a meeting of first district Republicans here yesterday. The delegates were uninstructed as to presidential choice.

Dr. Ed S. Brown of Edina was mentioned favorably for the Republican nomination for Governor. Brown has not announced his candidacy but is known to be popular in this section of the state.

Dallas County for Lowden.

Buffalo, Mo., Mar. 6.—Four delegates to the state convention, were elected at the convention of Dallas county Republicans here yesterday.

The delegates are W. C. Hawkins, E. L. Schofield, Dr. Robert Richey and R. A. Marsh. They were instructed for Frank O. Lowden of Illinois.

P. G Leach was indorsed as candidate for Congress from the sixteenth district.

Mrs. Lizzie Huff, Mrs. Clara Hainline and Miss Grace Haller visited Mrs. Clint Adams at Wilcox today.

Kansas Citian Signs Admission of Slaying

Chris G. Hampton Blames His Act on Family Strife and Too Much Liquor.

Kansas City, Mo., Mar. 6.—A signed admission by Chris G. Hampton, 70, that he shot and killed his wife and wounded her daughter and son-in-law was in the hands of police today.

Hampton blamed the shooting on family strife and liquor. He said he had obtained a bottle of whisky Sunday morning shortly before going to church where the murder took place.

When Paul E. Hutchens, son-in-law of Mrs. Hampton saw Hampton he started toward him. Hampton's confession said, and it was in self defense that he fired. It was an accident that his wife was killed and her daughter wounded, he declared.

WORLD FLIERS AGAIN ACTIVE

LEVINE HOPS FROM LONG ISLAND TO HAVANA.

LINDY IS AT CAPITAL

Stinson and Haldeman, Attempting Endurance Flight, Crash into Ice in Michigan Lake.

By United Press

Aviators, who last summer figured in sensational flights were active in the United States today

Charles A Levine, who was a passenger in the plane Columbia, which flew to Germany, flew the same plane to Havana., Cuba, from Mitchell Field, L. I.

Clarence Chamberlin, who piloted the Columbia to Germany, planned to take-off from Macon, Ga., for Atlanta on his national speaking tour. He landed in Macon yesterday from Tampa, Fla.

Colonel Charles A. Lindbergh flew from Scott Field, Belleville, Ill., where he landed yesterday, to Washington, D .C.

Dieudonne Costes and Joseph Lebrix, who flew across the south Atlantic, took off from Chicago for Cheyenne, Wyo., enroute to San Francisco. They will ship their plane from San Francisco to Tokio and proceed from Tokio by airplane, to Paris.

Col. Arthur Goebel, who flew to Hawaii last year in the Dole flight, was at Scott Field, Belleville, Ill., after a successful flight from New York.

Levine Flies to Havana.

Columbia Flying Field, Havana, Mar. 6.—Charles A. Levine's Bellanca monoplane Columbia arrived here at 1:35 p. m. today after a 1,600 mile flight from Mitchel Field, L. I.

With Levine in the plane that Clarence Chamberlin and he flew to Germany were Wilmer Stultz, pilot, and Miss Mabel Boll, of Rochester, N. Y., and Paris, France, called the "Queen of Diamonds" because of her jewel collection.

They left Mitchel Field after two months of waiting, at 11.36 p. m. last night.

Their flying time from Mitchel Field to Havana was 13 hours, 59 minutes.

The flight was Levine's second notable one in point of distance, although on an unsuccessful start on a world tour he got from England to Central Europe.

"We had a good trip," Levine told the United Press. "We encountered only a little bad weather. I must be back in New York Sunday. I intend, on the way, to stop off at Palm Beach and St. Petersburg, Fla.; Charleston, S. C., and other points."

Plane Falls Through Ice.

Mt. Clemens, Mich., March 6.—The huge monoplane in which Edward A. Stinson and George A. Haldeman planned to take off in an attempt to shatter the world's endurance flight record, broke through the ice of Lake St. Clair today.

The propeller and front wheels were broken. The accident occurred while Stinson and Haldeman were taxiing across the lake testing the ice, preparatory to taking off.

Lindy in Mysterious Flight.

St. Louis, Mo., March 6.—A "beautiful night for flying" provided too much of a lure for the 'Lone Eagle,' so Col. Charles A. Lindbergh added another night flight to his record.

That in brief is Major William B. Robertson's explanation of Lindbergh's mysterious take-off into the night after arrival at Belleville, Ill., late yesterday, and his arrival at Washington, D. C., early today.

ESCH REPORT UNFAVORABLE

SENATE COMMITTEE OPPOSES CONTINUANCE ON I. C. C.

CHANGES IN FARM BILL

House Agriculture Committee Amends McNary-Haugen Plan to Give Agriculture Voice.

Washington, Mar. 6.—The Senate Interstate Commerce Committee today voted 10 to 7 against confirming the nomination of John J. Esch for re-appointment to the Interstate Commerce Commission. An unfavorable report on the nomination will be sent to the Senate.

Senators representing Southern coal producing states opposed Esch's confirmation on the ground he changed his vote in the Lake Cargo coal rate case to insure Republican support for reappointment. He voted against Pennsylvania mine owners' getting lower freight rates in 1925 but concurred in a reversal of the decision in 1927.

Amend Farm Bill.

The House agricultural committee today amended the McNary-Haugen bill so as to permit farm organizations to suggest to the president nominees for the Federal Farm Board to be created by the measure.

Secretary of Agriculture Jardine endorsed the Norris proposal to use proceeds from Muscle Shoals power for fertilizer purposes.

Jardine, however, declined to endorse the resolution as a whole and pointed out that it did not include the administration plan to allow lease of hydro-electric facilities and lease or sale of the nitrate plant at muscle shoals.

Would Keep Submarine.

The House foreign affairs committee went on record against proposals to outlaw the submarine.

The committee voted six to five against a favorable report to the House on the Frothingham resolution designed to prohibit generally the use of submarines. Secretary of State Kellogg in a letter to the committee had advocated the resolution with the proviso that other nations also would outlaw the submarine.

The Bruce resolution directing the Secretary of Agriculture to investigate feasibility of the federal government insuring farmers against droughts, floods and storms was adopted by the Senate. It directs the Secretary to ascertain if such insurance could be consistent with sound governmental and economic policy.

Amends Flood Bill.

Amendments to the Jones Flood Control bill, raising the appropriation to $400,000,000 and proposing several important changes in the engineering plan, were introduced by Senator Hawes, Democrat, Missouri.

Another amendment provided that the control project start at Cape Girardeau, Mo., instead of Cairo, Ill. This would eliminate the floodway in Missouri against which Hawes has protested.

Hawes also proposed that two civilian engineers and one civilian of recognized executive ability shall be members of the commission in charge of construction.

For 4-Year House Terms.

An amendment to the Norris "lame duck" constitutional amendment extending terms of House members from two to four years will be presented by Representative Bankhead, Democrat, Alabama, he announced today during debate on the Norris proposal.

This amendment would make the House, like the Senate, a continuous body with half of the membership elected every two years. Representative Gifford, Republican, Massachusetts, objected that the proposed change might defeat the Norris amendment.

The House took up today the Norris constitutional amendment which would abolish the so-called "lame duck" session of Congress and change the date of the beginning of Congress and inauguration of the President to January. The Senate recently passed the resolution for the third time. This is the first time it has come before the House.

Reed Victory Marked Contrast With 1920

(Copyright 1928, by United Press)

St. Louis, Mo., Mar. 6.—Eight years ago the Missouri organization publicly repudiated James A. Reed, the state's senior United States Senator, for his post-war anti-Wilson course.

He was denied a place in the state's delegation to the National Democratic convention at San Francisco. During the convention he was found seated on a balcony step, weeping.

Last week at the State Democratic convention, the same organization registered an historic political about-face and unanimously presented the name of James A. Reed to Democrats of the Nation as candidate for the Presidency.

Wrote the Platform.

The platform adopted by the St. Joseph convention was virtually written by Reed. It contained his opposition to prohibition and made no mention of the League of Nations. He was lauded by the keynoter "for exposing the intolerable practice of purchasing seats in the United States Senate."

In explanation of the reversal of sentiment among Democrats of Reed's states, the United Press herewith presents exclusive statements from leaders of the 'Reed' and 'anti-Reed' factions of the Democratic party in Missouri.

Samuel W. Fordyce, chairman of the state committee and Reed's presidential campaign manager, said:

"The admiration of some Missouri Democrats for other party leaders in 1920 with views on matters that never were part of Democratic principles or doctrines, led them to regard any man who did not share their views as an enemy to the Democratic party.

Situation Exaggerated.

"Local contests, the natural rivalry of local leaders, the bitterness thus engendered, all contributed to give the impression that Senator Reed was far more unpopular in his own state in 1920 than he really was; but time and mature thought have eradicated all of this and the views of those now active in party councils have become once more the views of the rank and file of the people.

"In the recent convention in St. Joseph, it was the voice of the people that was heard proudly acclaiming Senator Reed as Missouri's favorite son."

Charles M. Hay, dry Democratic candidate for the United States Senate, one of Reed's bitterest political enemies, and recognized leader of the Wilsonian faction of the party, said:

"In my judgment the outstanding feature of the party developments in the last few months has been the determination of all factions to find if possible a common ground on which they can stand.

"There has been, along with this development, a disposition not to carry over into this campaign the differences and animosities engendered in previous campaigns.

Honesty Paramount Issue.

"I believe that all factions of the party want to make 'honesty in government' the paramount issue.

"We stand together on that, whatever our differences may have been in the past.

"The issues that have divided us in the past are either settled or eliminated from this campaign."

Hay is opposed for the Democratic Senatorial nomination by James A. Collet, a wet and a close personal friend of Senator Reed. Whether Reed privately encouraged Collet's candidacy, announced on the eve of the St. Joseph convention, and whether he will publicly endorse Collet later, has not been made public.

Prohibition and the League of Nations, however, appear to be issues which Missouri Democrats are endeavoring to submerge as too controversal for the good of party harmony. Reed has said 'There are other isues more important than prohibition in this campaign.' Hay, the dry Wilsonian leader, believes 'honesty in government' is paramount. Collet, although wet, has not yet stressed the point.

The Campaign Log

March 6
(By United Press)

Senator James A. Reed, in the final speech of his western campaign at Salt Lake City, urged the Democratic party to forget the prohibition issue and unite on election of a Democrat as president.

Four delegates pledged to Secretary of Commerce Herbert Hoover have been selected by Republicans of the Twenty-Fourth and Twenty-Fifth New York Congressional districts, for the Kansas City convention.

Secretary of Commerce Herbert Hoover, it was reported, would not seek the Indiana delegation to the Republican convention, but would make fights for district delegates.

Supporters of Governor Alfred E. Smith will contest for the eight delegates from Montana—the home state of Senator Thomas J. Walsh—word received by the New York State Democratic committee said.

Drys, in a meeting at St. Petersburg, Fla., said the nomination of Governor Alfred E. Smith of New York as a Democratic presidential candidate would harm the Democratic chances in the South.

Former Governor Frank O. Lowden of Illinois, returning from a western vacation, said that if the people of Illinois desired him as a presidential candidate they would vote for him—otherwise he would be relieved of the burden of the candidacy.

Claude Bowers, formerly of Indiana and now of New York, has been suggested as temporary chairman for the Democratic National Convention at Houston, Tex., and Senator Joseph T. Robinson of Arkansas has been suggested as the permanent chairman.

$1,100,000 Highway Bids to Be Opened

Jefferson City, Mo., Mar. 6.—The State Highway Department will open bids on nineteen road projects and thirteen bridges in ten counties, to cost approximately $1,100,000, here March 16, T. H. Cutler, chief highway engineer announced today.

In addition to the thirteen bridges, the contracts will be for construction of 21.424 miles of concrete, 28.260 miles of graded earth, 5.963 miles of gravel, and 12.603 miles of chat road, a total of 68.253 miles.

The projects include 12.016 miles of 18-foot concrete on three projects in Caldwell County.

field known as Gettysburg.

In Maine Disaster.

Mr. Snively re-enlisted in the thirteenth New York cavalry, Company M, in New York City and after enlistment was taken to Hart's Island, where he, along with 450 other soldiers, was put on a boat to go to Alexandria, Va. After the boat was out of sight of land, it was discovered that the boat was not safe and the men were returned to Hart's Island, where they were loaded onto another ship. When they were within thirty miles of Norfolk, this ship was driven onto the reefs and of the 450 soldiers, sixty were drowned.

A hauser (heavy rope) was fastened to an old wreck in the sand. The men on board went out on the rope, and by letting themselves free from the rope at the right time would be washed ashore. The sixty who were drowned and their bodies washed to shore later, let go of the rope at the wrong time. Their bodies were washed to the shore later.

The bodies were gathered and taken to Alexandria, in "great four-horse" ambulances where they were buried in the Battle Field of the Wilderness, Mr. Snively said.

The surviving soldiers were returned to Alexandria and placed in the regiments in which they had enlisted.

Survivor an Ambuscade.

The last of the thirty-seven engagements in which Mr. Snively entered during the war was at Piedmont, Va., on November 14, 1864. He was in command of a platoon of twenty-seven men. He was a sergeant in an advance guard of foraging detail and was drawn into ambuscade. Of the twenty-seven men, only eleven ever reported later for pay.

Mr. Snively's horse was shot twice under him and he was surrounded by 5 men. He had a six shooter and had shot three times. As he pulled the lock back for a fourth shot he broke the pistol and threw it. He was in a position to draw his sabre when one of the enemy put a gun against him and fired. The shot went through the liver and lung and above the right kidney. X-rays show that the bullet remains there, the veteran said.

Records show at Washington that Mr. Snively is the only Civil War veteran shot through the liver who survived. The injury was similar to that of President Garfield. The fact that Mr. Snively was forced to abandon his gun probably saved his life. Had the shot been fired from a distance it would probably have been fatal, he believes.

"My health is reasonably good now, but the encroachments of old age remindme of my many hurts and injuries," the veteran said.

"Nearly Starved."

"When we lived in Nodaway county, four of us farmed the thousand acres. We worked ourselves nearly to death, kept our noses to the grindstone all of the time and upon my word, we nearly starved to death," Mr. Snively declared.

Along with being the hero of numberless fights through life, Mr. Snively is also a connoisseur of women's clothing.

"Women formerly wore 75 pounds of skirts and if an inch or two of ankle showed, it was terrible. Why that was a crime. The present mode of women's styles are so much more sensible. The short skirts are better, even if some do go a little to extremes. But the real value of the short skirt is that no man need marry a bow-legged woman these days. If he does it certainly is his own fault."

"Maryville has grown to be a fine town. It is the nicest inland city in the United States," the visitor declared. During his stay here he visited with old friends, including Judge Ira K. Alderman.

Remarried in 1923.

Mr. Snively's first wife died twelve years ago. He was remarried in 1923, to Rachel Adeline Cline, who died January 11, 1928, of pneumonia, at their home at Blockton, Ia. Mr. Snively moved to Blockton in 1923 and he is the manager of the Cline House there. Two winters since 1923 he has spent in Florida and one in California.

Mrs. W. K. Jameson of Bonnieville, Ky., accompanied her father to Maryville. They visited their old farm, where Harry Wamsley now lives. Mrs. Jameson, is a graduate of Christian College, Columbia, Mo.

"We thought when she finished college she would come home and ride her horse and we could enjoy her as we used to, but just then some fine young Kentucky gentleman with a fancy mustache, playing a guitar, appeared on the scene and she left us," Mr. Snively explained. Mrs. Jameson has ten grandchildren.

Mr. Snively has sixteen grandchildren and seventeen greatgrandchildren. He has three sons in Wyoming and another daughter, Mrs. Grace Roberts, also in Wyoming.

Proud of Integrity.

"A man can call me anything or do anything to me, except tackle my integrity," the veteran declared.

"Edie," he called this daughter in the middle of the interview, and between puffs of his big cigar," did you call that taxi?"

Mr. Snively and Mrs. Jameson left yesterday afternoon for Conception and from there went to Blockton, last night.

A romantic figure, the visitor appeared, with long white hair that covered his coat collar, and with his wide brimmed hat and heavy cane. At one time in the interview he misunderstood his daughter to say that he had sixty grandchildren instead of sixteen.

"Sixty! Why Edie, I am enough of a patriarch with sixteen." And indeed, that's just what he reminded one of—a patriarch.

Admits Birth Was Faked

Charging that his wife smuggled into their home and for several years led him to believe it was a son naturally born to them, Myron L. Boyer of Detroit has filed a petition in circuit court at Lansing, Mich., seeking a decree ordering state officials to delete record of the birth of the child as his son. The Boyers are socially prominent in Detroit. Mrs. Boyer shown above with the child, admitted the deception, saying that she did it in the belief that Boyer wanted a son she could not have and that a baby would help to preserve their home. The case is complicated by immigration restrictions, which may require the return of the boy to Canada, where he was born to a hotel chambermaid.

Gives Child Dose of Iodine by Mistake

Elmo Woman Mistakes Bottle for Cough Syrup.—Mrs. Johnston's Condition About the Same.

ELMO.—Mrs. Verne Riggle gave her small son a spoonful of iodine one day last week when she picked up the iodine bottle thinking it was a bottle of cough syrup. She noticed the mistake at once and administered first aid and then called for a physician. The boy seems none the worse from the mistake.

Mrs. Luther Johnston who was in an auto accident a week ago Friday, remains about the same. Her recovery seems certain if complications don't develop.

Misses Ruth and Helen Margy Ferguson and Delmar Abbott of St. Joseph spent the week end with relatives in Elmo.

World Fliers Again Active

Robertson was one of four passengers who flew with Lindbergh from Cincinnati to Belleville yesterday.

Lindbergh had been expected to land at Lambert Field here, but put his craft down at the army field in Illinois at 6:30 p. m.

Attendants at Scott field so firmly reported him "asleep at the commandant's quarters" that all morning and at least one afternoon newspaper here in St. Louis went onto the streets today with stories heralding Lindbergh's return to St. Louis—and nothing more.

Conflicting Lindbergh Rumors.

Washington, March 6.—Conflicting reports circulated here today as to rumored intentions of Col. Charles A. Lindbergh to seek a rest at Johns Hopkins Hospital in Baltimore. While a flier friend of the Colonel states that one of the Colonel's associates would probably make a formal announcement late today of his intention to take a rest, a kinsman of Lindbergh stated that the Colonel is in perfect health and in need of no rest treatment. The Baltimore hospital authorities denied knowledge of such intention on Lindbergh's part.

Miss Mae Corwin returned from Kansas City last night where she sang at the funeral services of Mrs. R. J. Boyd.

GAIN SHOWN AT MARYVILLE POSTOFFICE

Cost Ascertainment of Revenues for Week Ending Sunday Indicates Gain Over Same Week Last Year

A cost ascertainment of revenue received at the local postoffice for the week of February 27 to March 4 shows a gain over the week February 28 to March 6, 1927.

Revenues on letters and first class packages increased from $390.82 during the week the cost ascertainment was kept last year, to $469.44 the week ending March 4, or last Sunday, the record shows. The increase on government post cards was from $6.03 last year as compared to $15.83 this year; there was an 8 cent decrease in the mailing of private post cards and the revenue on special handled packages last week was $5.75 compared to $2.75 for the corresponding last year.

There were 4,326 letters mailed here for local delivery, with a revenue of $4100.46, last week, compared to 3,975 pieces mailed at a revenue of $85.32 last year.

On local delivery letters for each day the last week the revenue was as follows:

Monday, $6.04; Tuesday, $7.20; Wednesday, $15.38; Thursday, $53.18; Friday, $12.96; Saturday, $5.06; and Sunday, 64 cents. The revenue was augmented on Thursday by the banks' statements being sent out. Usually Monday is a good day for revenue on letters mailed here for local delivery.

IOWA BEGINS ROAD SESSION

MISSOURI INTERESTED IN NEIGHBOR'S ACTION.

MAP SUBMIT BONDS

$100,000,000 Issue Asked by Highway Boosters Tired of Pay-As-You-Go Plan.

Jefferson City, Mo., Mar. 6.—Missouri good roads boosters are watching with unusual interest the special session of the Iowa legislature which convened in extra session Monday at the call of the governor to consider a proposal to submit a $100,000,000 road bond issue to a vote of the people.

Missouri is faced with a situation similar to that which the Iowa General Assembly will consider. A committee appointed by Governor Sam Baker is at work here in Missouri paving the way for an initative and referendum to issue $75,000,000 in good road bonds.

Iowa has tried the pay-as-you-go plan and has become dissatisfied with it. The fight for a bond issue to build roads has been led by the Iowa Good Roads Association, an organization similar to the Missouri Automobile Club.

The association started a campaign to educate the people to the advantage of hard surfaced roads and Governor John Hammil was besieged with requests for a special session to take up the question.

Many obstacles were hurled in the way of the special session advocates. It finally was agreed to determine the popularity of bonds as compared with the pay-as-you-go plan through a test in the different counties.

As soon as the way was opened many counties voted bonds to pay for hard surfacing state roads within their boundaries. The county bond movement spread so rapidly that after a year 61 counties out the state's 99 had voted bonds aggregating $66,535,000. Thirty-eight counties declined to vote bonds to build state roads, thereby leaving gaps through these counties.

Most of the dissenting counties were in southern Iowa, where principal Missouri highways connect with the Iowa State system. The momentum given the bond plan by the 61 counties was so great that protests of the 31 counties which held fast to the pay-as-you-go idea were literally unheard and a great clamor went up for a special session to submit a bond proposal to the people of the state.

Governor Hammil convened the legislature Monday and it will consider a plan which provides for the designation of nearly 5,000 miles of primary roads to be paved, and 1,732 miles to be graveled. Under the plan it is proposed to complete the work in six years, whereas, it was estimated the same amount of work under the pay-as-you-go plan would take 16 years.

Mrs. Callahan will soon be leaving for her home in Eureka Springs, Ark., after an extended stay with her children and many friends here.

Louis Joseph Vance, Author, Denies Reputed Interview Here

Last fall many Maryville persons were surprised to learn through an article in the Democrat-Forum and Tribune, written by George Gorman, that the internationally known writer, Louis Joseph Vance, had made an unexpected visit here. But a recent letter from the author of "The Lone Wolf," in answer to one written by a Maryville boy, denies that the author ever has been here.

Mr. Vance in part wrote:

"It's a wise author who knows his own public well enough to trust its approaches. Under the circumstances which Mr. Gorman relates (Mr. Vance was sent a copy of the article) I should probably have uttered a wild shriek and stepped hard on the gas. I couldn't have told—the genial stranger might have been a dissatisfied customer who wanted my heart's blood or his money back.

"If I ever do find myself in Maryville I shall surely poke around incognito and slake my curosity about the place where Homer nodded himself into a best seller. I may pass up the water tower, having seen its like elsewhere. But if anybody should ever catch a shy, mild-mannered stranger hesitating on the threshold of the room behind the drug store and peering with wide, wondering eyes into its dusky depths, as like as not it will be me. And, as like as not, it won't.

"It's a safe rule of conduct not to cash any cheques for transient strangers who freely admit their inclusion in Who's Who. Neither should your maidens go buggy-riding with such. Nor your good wives bid them to dinners. They may turn out to be mere harmless humorists,—but they may equally well be otherwise. I know of more than one author who wouldn't hurt a fly and who has been impersonated to the great harm of the impersonator's host," Mr. Vance concluded.

Indignities and abandonment are alleged. Downing seeks custody of two minor children, Wanita Marie, age 4; and William Grant, age 3.

Neosho Man in Race for Attorney General

He is the first Republican to file for that office. Shartel served as assistant attorney general for six years. He was graduated from the University of Missouri.

It was thought the ruling meant that such applications would be scrutinized more closely.

Feel Strain on the 3400 Mile Foot Race

Trans-Continental Endurance Contest Bring Sore Feet and Tired Muscles.

En Route with Pyle Caravan, Cajon, Cal., Mar. 6.—Nester Erickson of Finland passed Willie Kohlemainen of New York, to take the lead in the third day's heat of the Pyle transcontinental foot race when Kohleman developed leg muscle lameness 12 miles out of Bloomington.

Kohlemainen, who won the first two heats of the "bunion derby," dropped to third position when Ed Gardner, Seattle negro, left him behind. Kohlemainen slowed to a walk. The run today is from Bloomington to Victorville, 27 miles.

Bloomington, Calif., Mar. 6.—Sore feet and tired muscles afflicted contestants in C. C. Pyle's 3,400-mile transcontinental race today.

With only two laps, and those easy ones, completed, many of the 200 runners and walkers in the "bunion derby" were showing strains of the endurance contest.

One of the hardest stretches in the whole grind faced the contestants today.

They must pace their weary way over Cajon Pass to Victorville, some twenty-seven miles. There the carnival and tent city will be awaiting them, also another night's rest.

Willie Kohlemainen, durable Finn, showed little effects of the strain of setting the pace for the field in the first two laps. He lead the first heat and Monday trotted into Bloomington from Puente in 4:12:37. The distance was 37 miles.

Ed Gardner, Seattle marathoner, made the distance in 4:43:15 for second honors. His feet were blistered, however, and he showed the strains of the grind.

Oli Mattinen, Finland, trotted the distance for third place, just two minutes behind Gardner.

Pink lemonade, pop, salted peanuts, popcorn sales and side show attractions indicated Pyle probably will lose no money on the race when he divides $48,500 among the winners when they reach new York in the "go as you can" affair.

Bank and Fruit Jar Both Fail Laborer

Kansas City, Mo., Mar. 6.—Walter Coleman, a laborer, lost his entire savings when a bank failed here in 1924. After that he kept his savings in a fruit jar buried in the basement of his home. Yesterday he reported to police that it had been stolen.

Miss Marlous Sloan of Wilcox was in town today.

This and That

While rummaging around in some of his old papers, Ray O'Grady, a World War veteran who served overseas, found an April 25, 1919, issue of the Star and Stripes, which was the official organ of Overseas army. The paper had a picture of three army boxing stars. One of these men was "Private Gene Tunney," now heavyweight champion of the world. At that time Tunney was a member of the 11th Marines and was scheduled to meet Ted Jamison of the Third Army division the next night for the light heavyweight championship of the army.

The other two boxing stars shown in the picture were Corporal Mickey Gallagher, 305 Motor Transport Corps, a welterweight; and Corporal Leo Patterson, 809 Pioneer Infantry, lightweight.

A wrestler, well known in this vicinity also was mentioned in this issue of the Stars and Stripes. He was Ralph Pareaut, a private in the Sixth Marines, and at that time was the light heavyweight wrestling champion of the service men.

CAN COOK BY RADIO SOON

BURNS WITHOUT HEAT

Vacuum Tube and Short Wave Do the Work.—Declared Not New in Principle.

Schnectady, N. Y., Mar. 6.—Fryless fried eggs and unbaked baked apples are stunts of radio cooking made possible by development of a new high frequency radio tube announced recently at the General Electric Company's laboratories here.

Demonstrations which a few years ago would have been relegated to the realm of fairy tales are being shown at the laboratories where a short wave radio, an innocuous looking vacuum tube five inches in diameter, set down in a wooden cage, does the work of a cook stove, an electric warming pad, or an electric lighting plant. An incandescent lamp, pulled from its socket for the first time, lights to full brilliancy without wires or socket; a copper bar, lying on the floor, blisters the hand that picks it up, though the metal is cold, and a neon tube suddenly floods the room with its lurid red glow when merely touched by a spectator.

Principle Not New.

"This 6-meter tube has nothing new in principle," said H. J. Nolte, who is actively engaged in highpower' vacuum' tube' development. "Very short radio waves have always been easy to produce at low power. Also, very high power has for some time been available at the longer wavelengths. This is the first time, however, that we have been able to combine the two, so as to get their relative large power outputs on the short wavelengths. This new tube is a step in the development of short-wave radio transmission, on which we have been intensively engaged for several years. At present we can generate the power, but we have not yet devised a method of controlling its frequency within the close limits necessary for commercial operation."

Sausage Done Beautifully.

In the radio cooking a wire was suspended over a table at some distance from the radiating aerial, and parallel to it. A sausage, placed in a glass tube, was hung from the end of this receiving aerial, and in a few minutes it began to steam. On being removed, it was found to have been beautifully cooked by the high-frequency currents induced in it, although no flames or other visible means of heating were applied. A fry-less fried egg was also prepared in the glass tube, and served hot to spectators. An apple was impaled upon the end of the receiving aerial, and in a short time was thoroughly baked to the core.

Woman Adventurer and Author to Give Lecture at Conception

Dr. Cora Johnstone Best, adventurer, author and lecturer, will give an illustrated lecture in Parish Hall at 8 o'clock, Thursday night at Conception, under auspices of Conception College.

Mrs. Best declares her hobby to be the promotion of "good health, conservation, the great out-of-doors." In her lectures, she attempts to "sell"

DR. CORA JOHNSTONE BEST

America to Americans.

Always an ardent lover of out-of-doors and all animal life, Dr. Best at the age of 7 began to write on these subjects and her first story, "The Autobiography of a Cat," was published far and wide. She was the first exponent of visual instruction in the State of Minnesota. For this work she was accorded special privileges in the National Parks here and in Canada. Her lectures give a woman's experiences in out-of-the-way places, seven weeks under the Midnight Sun, sleeping on a glacier, and many unique adventures.

From Arctic to Tropics.

She has hunted, climbed and been on exploring expeditions from the Arctic Circle to the Tropics. She has mushed over hundreds of miles of Alaskan snow trails; driven dog teams; hunted whales with Eskimos; explored and brought out specimens of prehistoric animals from Alberta bad lands on Red Deer River; was the first person to explore Sapphire Mountain, where she gathered handfuls of sapphires. Mrs. Best has been through all our National Parks, spending months in them. Nine seasons were spent in Yellowstone Park.

For seven summers she has spent from four to seven months in the wilds of Canada, exploring, hunting grizzly bears and other big game, looking for and finding unusual places and things and bringing them back in pictures. She has climbed every considerable peak in the Canadian Rockies, including Assiniboine, the Northwest Arete of Sir Donald and the second ascent of Sir Douglas Haig—a most difficult and treacherous climb from a new and untried side of the mountain.

Guides on Dangerous Climbs.

Last season she guided a party to the top of Mt. Odaray, a major peak, believed to be the first time this has ever been done by a woman. She is also the only woman who has guided her own parties through various mountain passes including Opabin Pass and the dangerous Abbot Pass, called The Death Trap.

With a woman companion, Mrs. Best climbed several peaks for the first time and gave them names.

On Mt. Robson, highest peak in the Canadian Rockies (13,080), they broke all previous records by over two hours, besides taking moving pictures of the most dangerous places on their way to the top.

"The great out-of-doors here on the American Continent holds more grandeur, marvels and beauty than any other place on earth," says Mrs. Best. 'A large share of this is yet untouched by the hand of man—virgin country full of adventure, romance and opportunity. Yet there are scores of Americans who know so little about their own Continent it would shock you if you knew the whole truth. Yet these people can tell you all about Europe."

Nine Pupils Move From Davis School

Ralph Collins Suffers Gash on Head When He Falls on Stove.—New Oil Station Is Built Here.

Davis School.—The enrollment of Davis school has decreased from twenty-six to seventeen. The enrollment now includes six girls and eleven boys.

Nine pupils were lost the first of March by moving. The were Charles, Woodrow, Wilson and Junior Clemons who moved to Guilford; Leroy, Jauquetta, Audrey and Maxine Brickey, who moved into the Black Oak district; and Ruby Burchett, who moved into the Maple Grove district. Only one new pupil has entered school since school started, Betty Lou Strauch, who entered school January 23. The A class with a former total of eight has decreased to three.

Ralph Collins was absent from school two days last week because of an injury suffered when he fell on a stove. He suffered a gash on his head and it was necessary to take stitches to close the wound.

Charles William Hoshor also received a cut on the face Friday afternoon. While playing he fell on a stick and cut quite a gash on his chin.

The Art class Thursday made window decorations of tulips in bowls. They also worked on some posters started last week. The floor was oiled Monday evening and we have received a new brush broom.

The school children have been having much fun the last few weeks playing "Dog Around the House" with the Volley Ball.

Miss Opal Thompson spent the week-end at the J. D. Bolin home at Bolckow.

The new oil station northwest of the schoolhouse on the D. N. Hoshor farm is going up rapidly.

Hollister—The $100,000 administration building, now under construction at the School of the Ozarks here, will be dedicated April 20.

Can a Woman Really Love Two Men?

A BEACH. Two young men and a girl—a girl with a lovely, young figure, dark, soft-curling hair, a mouth made for kisses. Weeks before, Stanley and Lawson, lifelong pals, had looked into her starry eyes and each had fallen secretly, madly in love. Now they meet again.

Stanley: Congratulate me, Lawson, old boy. Patricia has just consented to be my wife.

* * * *

Night. Patricia's husband is away. She and Lawson are in the house alone. Lawson paces the floor, dry-lipped, feverish. What a fool he had been to consent to make his home with them—to see Patricia daily—to worship her under the same roof with her husband—his friend. Her nearness—the memory of her tender glances for many days past, torture him—fill him with an agony of longing. If only—

The next moment he is holding her in his arms. She clings to him as he looks down into her dark, lustrous eyes, now half-veiled and misty—and reads there the same wordless confession he can no longer hide in his own. Suddenly—

* * * *

Thus it begins. Can a woman really love two men? Is it real love, or mere infatuation that lures her along the road to inevitable tragedy? You will find the answer in "My Buddy and My Wife," April True Story Magazine.

THE STORY THUS FAR

The jewel case was most baffling to Vance. It had been opened with a steel chisel after unsuccessfully being pried with a poker, and it was found in the room with the murdered Margaret Odell. Spotswoode had gone out with her the evening of the murder. When he left her he told Jessup, at the switchboard, to call a cab. They heard a scream from her room, but when they reached the door were told everything was all right. The next morning she had been found strangled. Vance believes another man was in the apartment beside the murderer and that he hid in the clothes closet. Investigation discloses that Cleaver had been seen with her a lot and he is brought in for questioning.

CHAPTER 17

"I can eliminate myself easily enough," Cleaver proclaimed with easy confidence. "There's a speeding summons from Boonton, New Jersey. Note the date and the time: September the 10th—last night—at half past eleven. Was driving down to Hopatcong, and was ticketed by a motorcycle cop just as I had passed Boonton and was heading for Mountain Lakes. Got to appear in court there tomorrow morning. Damn nuisance, these country constables."

He gave Markham a long, calculating look. "You couldn't square it for me, could you? It's a rotten ride to Jersey, and I've got a lot to do to-morrow."

Markham, who had inspected the summons casually, put it in his pocket. "I'll attend to it for you," he promised, smiling amiably. "Now tell me what you know."

Cleaver puffed meditatively on his cigar. Then, leaning back and crossing his knees, he spoke with apparent candor.

"I doubt if I know much that'll help you . . . I liked the Canary, as she was called—in fact, was pretty much attached to her at one time. Did a number of foolish things; wrote her a lot of damnfool letters when I went to Cuba last year. Even had my picture taken with her down at Atlantic City."

He made a self-condemnatory grimace. "Then she began to get cool and distant; broke several appointments with me. I raised the devil with her, but the only answer I got was a demand for money . . . ."

He stopped and looked down at his cigar ash. A venomous hatred gleamed from his narrowed eyes, and the muscles of his jowls hardened.

"No use lying about it. She had those letters and things, and she touched me for a neat little sum before I got 'em back. . . ."

"When was this?"

There was a momentary hesitation. "Last June," Cleaver replied. Then he hurried on: "Mr. Markham"—his voice was bitter—"I don't want to throw mud on a dead person; but that woman was the shrewdest, coldest-blooded blackmailer it's ever been my misfortune to meet. And I'll say this, too: I wasn't the only easy mark on her string . . . I happen to know she dug into old Loney Mannix for a plenty—he told me about it."

"Could you give me the names of any of these other men?" asked Markham, attempting to dissemble his eagerness. "I've already heard of the Mannix episode."

"No, I couldn't." Cleaver spoke regretfully. "I've seen the Canary here and there with different men; and there's one in particular I've noticed lately. But they were all strangers to me."

"I suppose the Mannix affair is dead and buried by this time?"

"Yes—ancient history. You won't get any line on the situation from that angle. But there are others—more recent than Mannix—who might bear looking into, if you could find them. I'm easy-going myself; take things as they come. But there's a lot of men who'd go red-headed if she did the things to them that she did to me."

Cleaver, despite his confession, did not strike me as easy-going, but rather as a cold, self-contained, nerveless person whose immobility was at all times dictated by policy and expediency.

Markham studied him closely.

"You think, then, her death may have been due to vengeance on the part of some disillusioned admirer?"

Cleaver carefully considered his answer.

"Seems reasonable," he said finally. "She was riding for a fall."

There was a short silence; then Markham asked:

"Do you happen to know of a young man she was interested in—good-looking, small, blond mustache, light blue eyes—named Skeel?"

Cleaver snorted derisively.

"That wasn't the Canary's specialty—she let the young ones alone, as far as I know."

At this moment a page-boy approached Cleaver, and bowed.

"Sorry to disturb you, sir, but there's a phone call for your brother. Party said it was important and, as your brother isn't in the club now, the operator thought you might know where he'd gone."

"How would I know?" fumed Cleaver. "Don't ever bother me with his calls."

"Your brother in the city?" asked Markham casually. "I met him years ago. He's a San Franciscan, isn't he?"

"Yes—rabid Californian. He's visiting New York for a couple of weeks so he'll appreciate Frisco more when he gets back."

It seemed to me that this information was given reluctantly; and I got the impression that Cleaver, for some reason, was annoyed. But Markham, apparently, was too absorbed in the problem before him to take notice of the other's disgruntled air, for he reverted at once to the subject of the murder.

"I happen to know one man who has been interested in the Odell woman recently; he may be the same one you've seen her with—tall about forty-five and wears a gray close-cropped mustache." (He was, I knew, describing Spotswoode.)

"That's the man" averred Cleaver. "Saw them together only last week at Mouquin's."

Markham was disappointed.

"Unfortunately, he's checked off the list. . . . But there must be somebody who was in the girl's confidence. You're sure you couldn't cudgel your brains to any advantage?"

Cleaver appeared to think.

"If it's merely a question of some one who had her confidence," he said, "I might suggest Doctor Lindquist—first name's Ambrose, I think; and he lives somewhere in the Forties near Lexington Avenue. But I don't know that he'd be of any value to you. Still, he was pretty close to her at one time."

"You mean that this Doctor Lindquist might have been interested in her otherwise than professionally?"

"I wouldn't like to say." Cleaver smoked for a while as if inwardly debating the situation. "Anyway, here are the facts: Lindquist is one of these exclusive society specialists—a neurologist he calls himself—and I believe he's the head of a private sanitarius of some kind for nervous women. He must have money, and, of course, his social standing is a vital asset to him—just the sort of man the Canary might have selected as a source of income. And I know this: he came to see her a good deal oftener than a doctor of his type would be apt to. I ran into him one night at her apartment, and when she introduced us, he wasn't even civil."

"It will at least bear looking into," replied Markham unenthusiastically. "You've no one else in mind who might know something helpful?"

Cleaver shook his head.

"No—no one."

"And she never mentioned anything to you that indicated she was in fear of any one, or anticipated trouble?"

"Not a word. Fact is, I was bowled over by the news. I never read any paper but the morning Herald—except, of course, The Daily Racing Form at night. And as there was no account of the murder in this morning's paper, I didn't hear about it until just before dinner. The boys in the billard-room were talking about it, and I went out and looked at an afternoon paper. If it hadn't been for that, I might not have known of it till tomorrow morning."

Markham discussed the case with him until half past eight, but could elicit no further suggestions. Finally Cleaver rose to go.

"Sorry I couldn't give you more help," he said. His rubicund face was beaming now and he shook hands with Markham in the friendliest fashion.

"You wangled that viscid old sport rather cleverly don't y' know," remarked Vance, when Cleaver had gone. "But there's something deuced queer about him. The transition from his gambler's glassy stare to his garrulous confidences was too sudden—suspiciously sudden, in fact. I may be evil-minded, but he didn't impress me as a luminous pillar of truth. Maybe it's because I don't like those cold, boiled eyes of his—somehow they didn't harmonize with his gushing imitation of open-hearted frankness."

"We can allow him something for his embarrassing position," suggested Markham charitably. "It isn't exactly pleasant to admit having been taken in and blackmailed by a charmer."

"Still, if he got his letters back in June, why did he continue paying court to the lady? Heath reported he was active in that sector right up to the end."

"He may be the complete amorist," smiled Markam. "At any rate, he gave us, in Doctor Lindquist, a possible source of information."

"Quite so," agreed Vance. "And that's about the only point of his whole passionate unfoldment that I particularly put any stock in, because it was the only point he indicated with any decent reticence. . . My advice is that you interview this doctor without further delay."

"I'm dog-tired," objected Markham. "Let it wait till tomorrow."

Vance glanced at the great clock over the stone mantel.

"It's latish, I'll admit, but why not, as Pittacus advised, seize time by the forelock?

'Who lets slip fortune, her shall never find:
Occasion once past by, is bald behind.'

But the elder Cato anticipated Cowley. In his 'Disticha de Moribus' he wrote——"

"Come!" pleaded Markham, rising. "Anything to dam this flow of erudition."

Barnes and Lyle in a Ciphering Match

Barnes Pupils Win But Lyle Turns Tables in Spelling Match.—Program March 16.

BARNES—Last Friday being a very pretty afternoon, the Barnes pupils challenged the Lyle school to a ciphering match.

After the ciphering match was completed the remainder of the afternoon was spent spelling railroad fashion.

We were the winners of the ciphering match, while the Lyle pupils won the spelling match.

The pupils of both schools enjoyed the afternoon very much.

Eudora Medsker was a visitor.

We were very sorry to lose two of our pupils last week, Zelma and Davis Munsey who moved to the Wilcox district.

Magda and Elva Carlson entered school Monday.

The play, "Deacon Dubbs" that was to have been given by the patrons of the district was given up. Due to the spring work it was impossible to get the characters together for practises.

Instead of the play the Hopkins Family Entertainers will give a program at the schoolhouse, Friday evening March 16. An admission of 10 and 25c will be charged. The ladies of the district will serve refreshments. Everybody is invited.

Harry Edwin and Junior Long were absent Monday on the account of illness.

Don't Chloroform Yourself To Stop Coughing Spells

The use of chloroform to relieve night coughing caused by colds and bronchial irritations is dangerous. It's unnecessary, too. Because now anyone can get quick, sure relief with a prescription that is safe and pleasant to take.

A famous physician's prescription called Thoxine relieves almost instantly. It goes direct to the cause and is far superior to gargles.

Thoxine does not contain iron, chloroform, dope or harmful drugs. Equally good for sore throat. Sold under money back guarantee of quick relief. 35c., 60c and $1.00.—Maryville Drug and all good drug stores.

DON'T STAY FAT IN THESE DAYS

You see countless people who have gained new beauty, new health and vim, by fighting excess fat. Some have done this by abnormal exercise and diet, some in a modern, scientific way. Why not follow their example?

There is a way based on scientific research. It combats a cause of excess fat which starvation cannot fight. That method is embodied in Marmola prescription tablets, now used for 20 years. Millions of boxes of them. The results you see wherever you look should induce you to accept them.

Each box of Marmola contains the formula, also the reasons for results. So there is no secret, no reason to fear harm. You will know that all the good results come in a natural way. Go learn them now, by asking your druggist for a $1 box of Marmola.

Satisfying Effect!

Mason City, Iowa.—"I have taken Dr. Pierce's Favorite Prescription and it has always given me entire satisfaction. As a tonic for women I do not believe it can be equaled.

"I have also taken Dr. Pierce's Pleasant Pellets as a mild laxative. I consider them the best remedy I know of to keep the stomach and bowels in condition. I think they are extraordinary."—Mrs. Wm. Keys, 610 S. Van Buren St.

Dr. Pierce's Medicines (liquid or tablets) can be bought in your neighborhood store, 60 Pellets, 30 cts.

Women, Weak, Tired, Rundown and Nervous

or who suffer ovarian pains, pains in the lower part of the stomach, bearing down pains, female weaknesses, headaches, backache, melancholia, despondency, nervous derangements, flushes of heat, fleeting and indefinite pains, whites, painful or irregular periods, should write to Mrs. Ellen Lovell, 7455 Mass., Kansas City, Mo.

She will entirely FREE and without charge to the inquirer advise of a convenient home method whereby she and other women say they have successfully relieved similar troubles.

The most common expression of these thankful women is "I feel like a new woman." And others, "I don't have any pains whatever anymore." "I can hardly believe myself that your Wonderful Method has done so much good for me in such a short time." Write today. This advice is entirely free to you. She has nothing to sell.

Breath Bad? End it this simple way

Nothing is more disagreeable than bad breath. End it by using Chamberlain's Tablets. Pleasant, easy to take, they end bad breath by removing the cause—poor digestion. Also end gas-pains, biliousness, constipation, and tone up liver. Fifty and 25-cent pocket sizes at druggists. For free sample, write Chamberlain Medicine Co., 507 6th Ave., Des Moines, Iowa.

An Old Recipe to Darken Hair

By JANICE RANDALL

Almost everyone knows that Sage Tea and Sulphur, properly compounded, brings back the natural color and lustre to the hair when faded, streaked or gray. Years ago the only way to get this mixture was to make it at home, which is mussy and troublesome.

Nowadays we simply ask at any drug store for "Wyeth's Sage and Sulphur Compound." You will get a large bottle of this old-time recipe improved by the addition of other ingredients, for only 75 cents. Everybody uses this preparation now, because no one can possibly tell that you darkened your hair, as it does it so naturally and evenly. You dampen a sponge or soft brush with it and draw this through your hair, taking one small strand at a time; by morning the gray hair disappears, and after another application or two, your hair becomes beautifully dark, thick and glossy and you look years younger.

After Colds or Grip

See That Your Kidneys Get Rid of the Poisons.

DOES winter find you lame, tired and achy—worried with backache, headache and dizzy spells? Are the kidney secretions too frequent scanty or burning in passage?

These are often signs of sluggish kidney action and sluggish kidneys shouldn't be neglected.

Doan's Pills, a stimulant diuretic, increase the secretion of the kidneys and aid in the elimination of waste impurities. Doan's are endorsed the country over. Ask your neighbor!

Final Grain Review.

Chicago, Mar. 6.—A strong cash market, small receipts and prospects of a slump in country marketings sent corn futures sharply higher today.

During the final hour, however, heavy profit taking developed and best prices were far above the final figures. Wheat broke after an early upturn and oats lost slight morning gains. Final figures: wheat ½c to ⅝c lower; corn, ⅛c to ⅝c higher and oats unchanged to ⅛c off.

Provisions closed higher.

Corn slumped early in the day on the generally bullish conditions which have prevailed during the last few days. When receipts, however, were found to total only 224 cars of which 100 were on contracts and did not enter the market, all futures rallied easily. The cash market gained ½c. Weather over the belt gave signs of getting warmer, which would tend to reduce the country movement.

The generally bullish situation in wheat gave all futures a strong tone early in the day. When corn became active, however, many traders began to sell wheat and move over into the corn pit. There was practically nothing in the news, excepting slight weakness at Liverpool to affect prices here. No export business was reported. Buying was generally in small lots from scattered sections of the country. Receipts were 20 cars and the cash market held unchanged.

Much interest was centered in wheat and corn, and oats were almost neglected. The undertone continued strong, however, and prices easily held small fractional gains. Receipts were 66 cars and the cash market advanced ¼c.

Has Meteoric Rock Believed Valuable

Mrs. C. T. Wiley Awaits Final Report Of Chemists.—Has Many Other Curios.

Mrs. C. T. Wiley of Maryville, a collector of curios, living at 938 South Main street, has found a large rock which she believes to be from a meteor and, if so, will prove valuable. Mrs. Wiley discovered the rock last November while tramping over the Wiley farm, six miles east of here. At that time she did not consider it of value except for its odd features.

When Mr. and Mrs. Wiley moved into Maryville recently, the supposed meteoric rock was brought along. Pieces were sent to W. H. Matchett of Hoquiam, Washington, himself a collector of curios, who knows the chemical make-up of various types of stones. He believed it to be a valuable meteoric rock and has sent pieces to chemists to discover the quality. The last letter which Mrs. Wiley received from Mr. Matchett stated that he believed it to be of the meteoric order of Widmanstattin but the value and mineral contents were not stated.

The rock in the possess of Mrs. Wiley weighs 100 pounds. If it proves of value it could be sold anywhere from 25 cents a pound to $18 and over, depending upon the minerals, she said.

Mr. Wiley has a remarkable collection of curios representative of practically every state in the nation. Many were sent to her by friends, while others were collected by her in years of curio seeking.

Mr. Wiley is proud of the fact that he carries in his pocket a "Lucky Lindbergh Coin." It bears the date Lindbergh made his flight, and a four leaf clover and a horseshoe are included on the coin along with Lindbergh's likeness.
